

Waterloo integrated station development

June 2020

HAVE YOUR SAY

In 2024, Sydney will have 31 metro railway stations and a 66 kilometre standalone metro railway system, including a new metro station at Waterloo.

John Holland will deliver the metro station along with a joint venture between John Holland and Mirvac to deliver the Waterloo integrated station development, including the buildings above and next to the station.

The team is currently preparing designs for the buildings and public space in the Waterloo Metro Quarter and would like to hear your comments.

Let us know your comments on topics such as:

- Building designs
- Facilities or services
- Public domain
- Retail spaces
- Public art and landscape
- Construction impacts
- Car parking
