

Australian Technology Park - Conservation Management Plan Consultation Feedback Form

Australian Technology Park (ATP) has commissioned Godden Mackay Logan, heritage consultants, to prepare a new Conservation Management Plan for the ATP site. This session provides an opportunity for stakeholders, interested parties and local community members to reflect on the significance of the former Eveleigh locomotive workshops and the changes that have occurred to the ATP site over the past 20 years.

Name (optional)

Address (optional)

What do you think is the heritage importance of the ATP and why?

What aspects or components of the site make the greatest contribution to its heritage importance?

Are there issues about the future conservation and management of the ATP site that you would like to raise. What would you like to have happen?

Do you have any further comments/suggestions?

If so, please use the space provided on the back of this form.

