

Improve how Health works for you and the broader services system

Shane Brown will talk about his Healthy Living Link Worker role in Waterloo for Sydney Local Health District.

This role exists to help people navigate the complex health system to get the mix of services they need. It also exists to identify the problems people find where parts of the health system do not work as well as they should.

All welcome – bring your questions, stories and suggestions

Thursday 5th September 6pm - 8pm
